Headteachers Comment

This week has been science week and classes have been conducting a variety of investigations and experiments. Children have been completing activities on 'connections'. We have also celebrated Red Nose Day today and focused on the theme of supporting those in need during the current cost of living crisis. The particular key areas of focus have been lack of food, poverty and homelessness. At FGA, we combined this event with Mad Hair Day to ask for donations of Easter eggs and chocolate.

Please don't forget to book your parents' evening appointment via the MCAS app and attend school on Monday 27th March to find out about your child's progress. This term is a face-to-face event so that you have the opportunity to see work books.

Thanks

EYFS Extreme Reading

For their homework Nursery and Reception children were challenged to read in an unusual place. They managed to find plenty of interesting and fun locations. Thank you to all the parents that supported this activity.

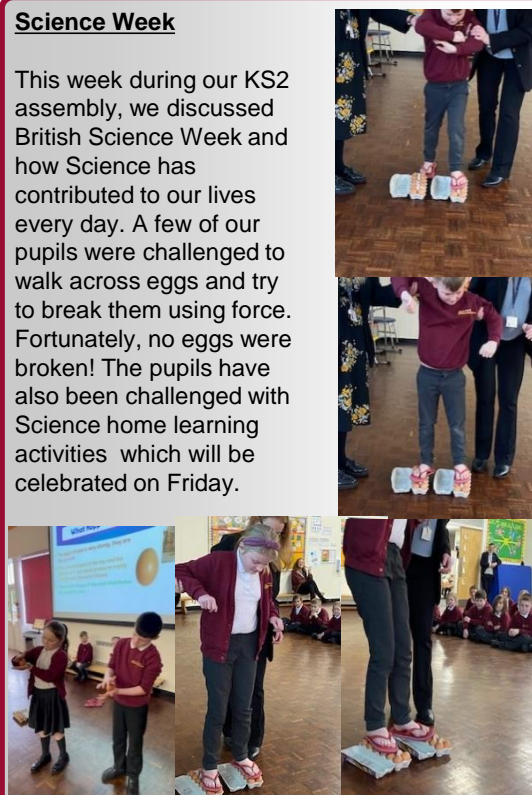

Year 5

Year 5 enjoyed investigating irreversible changes this week. They mixed vinegar and bicarbonate of soda to create Carbon dioxide. They then investigated how they could inflate the balloon. Some determination ensued to try and explode the balloons!

Science Week

This week during our KS2 assembly, we discussed British Science Week and how Science has contributed to our lives every day. A few of our pupils were challenged to walk across eggs and try to break them using force. Fortunately, no eggs were broken! The pupils have also been challenged with Science home learning activities which will be celebrated on Friday.
